9 prior to the subject incident.

10 18. Despite having notice that notice that the subject Boneless Fish Fillets were likely
11 defective Defendants continued to place the subject Boneless Fish Fillets into the stream of 12 commerce.

13 19. Defendants represented to consumers including Plaintiff that the subject Boneless
14 Fish Fillets and similar products was a safe product free of fish bones which could cause injury

15 20. The subject Boneless Fish Fillets were purchased with the reasonable expectation
16 that they were properly manufactured, free from defects of any kind and that they were safe for 17 their intended, foreseeable use of eating.

18 21. As a result of the improper manufacturing of the Boneless Fish Fillets, Plaintiff
19 sustained injuries.

20 22. At all materials times, Defendants by and through their agents, servants, workers, 21 and/or employees, designed, manufactured, sold, distributed, modified, and/or assembled the 22 subject Boneless Fish Fillets, and these Defendants distributed, advertised, and sold these Boneless
23 Fish Fillets for general use by the public, including the Plaintiff.

24 23. When Defendants sold and/or distributed the Boneless Fish Fillets, they were 25 expected to and did reach their eventual consumer, without substantial change in their condition.

26 24. At the time of the sale and distribution of the Boneless Fish Fillets by Defendants,
27 they were in a defective condition, which defect was the proximate cause of the injuries and 28 damages sustained by Plaintiff, and for which Defendants are strictly liable.

1 time when there were safer alternative designs available to Defendants. These acts and omissions,
2 taken simultaneously or in combination, were a legal cause of Plaintiff's injuries and damages.

3 34. The Boneless Fish Fillets were defective in that they failed to conform to safe 4 product design and specifications of such boneless fish fillets, and their defective design failed to 5 prevent the sudden and unexpected consumption of fish bones when used by the consumer
6 according to the product's instructions.

7 35. The Boneless Fish Fillets were defective and unreasonably dangerous because there
8 was a lack of adequate warnings, notices, and/or instructions that the product could contain fish
9 bones. The Boneless Fish Fillets were also defective and unreasonably dangerous because they 10 was manufactured from materials that were not suitable for this type of product and operation/use
11 of the product under the reasonably anticipated conditions of consumer use. Each of these defects
12 are independent proximate causes of Plaintiff's injuries and damages.

13 36. Defendants failed to exercise reasonable care in determining the accuracy of 14 information to Plaintiff and failed to exercise reasonable care in communicating untrue
15 information regarding the safety and functionality of the Boneless Fish Fillets, upon which 16 Plaintiff relied.

17 37. The specific negligent manufacturing or design on the part of Defendants rests in 18 facts that are within the knowledge of Defendants. Plaintiff further relied on the doctrine of Res
19 Ipsa Loquitur. Plaintiff will show that the character of the occurrence giving rise to this litigation
20 is such that it would not happen in the absence of Defendants' negligence and that the design and 21 manufacture of the Boneless Fish Fillets was within the exclusive control of Defendants at the 22 time the negligence occurred.

23 38. Plaintiff had no control over the method or manner in which the product was 24 designed, manufactured, or cautioned and it came to Plaintiff's possession in the same condition
25 it was in when it left the control of Defendants.

26 39. Defendants were negligent in the design or manufacturing of the Boneless Fish
27 Fillets, which negligence was the proximate cause of the injuries and damages sustained by 28 Plaintiff.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

(Strict Products Liability Against Defendants)

45. Plaintiff incorporates by reference each and every allegation previously made in this Complaint, as if fully set forth herein.

46. Defendants designed, researched, developed, manufactured, tested, advertised, promoted, marketed, labeled, sold, and/or distributed the Boneless Fish Fillets. The Boneless Fish Fillets, as designed, researched, developed, manufactured, tested, advertised, promoted, labeled, marketed, sold, and/or distributed by Defendants was in an unsafe, defective, and unreasonably dangerous condition which was hazardous to users. The Boneless Fish Fillets was in this unsafe condition at the time it left Defendants' possession.

47. The Boneless Fish Fillets was expected to, and did, reach the usual consumers (including Plaintiff), handlers, and persons coming into contact with the Boneless Fish Fillets without substantial change in the condition in which it was designed, produced, manufactured, sold, distributed, and marketed by Defendants.

48. The Boneless Fish Fillets was defective and unreasonably dangerous because there was a lack of adequate warnings, notices, and/or instructions.

49. Plaintiff was injured while using the Boneless Fish Fillets for their intended purpose, in accordance with the instructions that accompanied the product, and in a manner foreseeable to Defendants.

50. However, the Boneless Fish Fillets failed to perform as safely as an ordinary consumer would reasonably expect.

51. Defendants' failure to design, manufacture, market, label, and sell safe Boneless Fish Fillets was the proximate cause of Plaintiff's injuries and damages.

52. Additionally, as a direct and proximate result of Defendants' placement of the defective Boneless Fish Fillets into the stream of commerce, Plaintiff suffered permanent, catastrophic bodily injuries, and resulting pain and suffering, disability, disfigurement, mental anguish, loss of capacity for the enjoyment of life, the expense of hospitalization, medical and

1 nursing care and treatment, loss of earnings, loss of ability to earn money, and aggravation of a
 2 previously existing condition, if any.

3 53. Defendants knew or should have known that the Boneless Fish Fillets were 4 defective and unsafe, especially when used in the form and manner they intended and 5 demonstrated.

6 54. Defendants had a duty to design, manufacture, label, market, and sell a product that
 7 was not unreasonably dangerous for its normal, intended use.

8 55. Defendants knew or should have known that the Boneless Fish Fillets were
 9 defective and unsafe, and with this knowledge, Defendants voluntarily designed, manufactured,
 10 marketed, and sold their products in a defective condition for use by the public. Because 11 Defendants designed, researched, developed, manufactured, tested, advertised, promoted,
 12 marketed, labeled, sold and distributed a defective product, which when used in its intended or 13 reasonably foreseeable manner, created an unreasonable risk to consumers and to Plaintiff,
 14 Defendants are strictly liable for the injuries Plaintiff sustained.

15 FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

16 (Violation of Nevada Consumer Protection Laws)

17 40. Plaintiffs incorporate the factual allegations set forth in the previous paragraphs as 18 if fully set forth herein and further alleges as follows.

19 41. Pursuant to Nevada's Deceptive Trade Practices Act, codified at N.R.S., Chapter
 20 598, specifically, N.R.S. 598.0915(5)(7) and (15), by reason of the conduct as alleged herein, and 21 by inducing consumers of the Pressure Cooker including Plaintiff, through deception, fraud, false
 22 advertising, false pretenses, misrepresentations, unfair or deceptive practices, or a combination of 23 these acts, and the concealment and suppression of material facts, including, but not limited to,
 24 fraudulent statements, concealments and misrepresentations identified herein and above.

25 42. Under N.R.S. 41.600(1), Nevada's Deceptive Trade Practices Act provides for a 26 private cause of action may be brought by any person who is a victim of consumer fraud.

27 43. Defendant had notice that the Boneless Fish Fillets was likely defective with respect
 28 to the "lid safety interlock system" prior to the subject incident.

1           44.     Despite having notice that notice that the subject Boneless Fish Fillets were likely
2 defective Defendants continued to place the subject Boneless Fish Fillets into the stream of
3 commerce.

4           45.     Defendants made deceptive misrepresentations to consumers including Plaintiff
5 that the Boneless Fish Fillets and similar models were safe and boneless.

6           46.     The subject Boneless Fish Fillets were purchased with the reasonable expectation
7 that it was properly designed and manufactured, free from defects.

8           47.     Plaintiff relied on Defendant's material misrepresentation that the Boneless Fish
9 Fillets were actually boneless when used for their intended purpose and/or foreseeably misused.

10          48.     Without Defendant's above-mentioned material misrepresentation, Plaintiff would 11 not have used the Boneless Fish Fillets, which caused her injuries.

12          49.     As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' statutory violations, Plaintiff was 13 damaged by Defendant, which would not have occurred had Defendant not used deception, fraud, 14 false advertising, false pretenses, misrepresentations, unfair or deceptive practices, and the 15 concealment and suppression of material facts to induce Plaintiff to use this product.

16          50.     By reason of such violations, Plaintiff suffered bodily injury and resulting pain and 17 suffering, disability, mental anguish, loss of capacity for the enjoyment of life, expense of medical 18 care and treatment, loss of earnings, loss of ability to earn money and other economic losses, and 19 aggravation of previously existing conditions. The losses are either permanent or continuing, and 20 Plaintiffs will suffer the losses in the future.

21           WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, expressly reserving the right to amend this complaint prior to or 22 at the time of trial of this action to insert those items of damage not yet fully ascertainable, prays
23 judgment against all Defendants, and each of them, as follows:

- 24           1.     For general and special damages sustained by Plaintiff in an amount in excess of 25                 $15,000.00;
26           2.     For reasonable attorney's fees and costs;
27           3.     For interest at the statutory rate; and
